New Orleans Bee.

Office 73 Chartres street

NEW ORLEANS, TUESDAY MORNING, SEPTEMBER 20, 1864.

Vol XVII—New Series. Vol XXXVI.—Whole No 13,232

NEW ORLEANS:
TUESDAY MORNING SEPTEMBER 20.

Sales at Auction this Day.

By S. Guinault, at 10 o'clock, on Chartres street, between Lafayette and Bienville streets, fancy and dry goods.

DRY GOODS, &c., AT AUCTION BY THE SHERIFF.—Particular attention is called to the sale at auction to be made this day at 10 o'clock A. M. at store No. 105 Chartres street, by the Sheriff of this parish, of a large stock of dry goods, &c. See advertisement.

SCRIPS, NOTES AND ACCOUNTS AT AUCTION BY THE SHERIFF.—We are requested to call attention to the sale at auction to be made this day at noon at the Merchants' and Auctioneers' Exchange, Royal street, by the Sheriff of this Parish of St. Tammany, of the Union Mutual Merchants' Mutual, Citizens Mutual Insurance Companies, sundry Notes and Accounts. See advertisement.

ANOTHER RADICAL LETTER FOR PRESIDENT LINCOLN.—Since the Cincinnati Convention there has been an evident tendency in the part of war and abolition journals to disparage the Democrat, deride the idea of new Republican nomination, and style their unqualified supporters to the Baltimore ticket. A notable example of this feeling it is stated in a recent Washington dispatch to the Baltimore ticket. A notable example of this feeling it is stated in a recent Washington dispatch to the Baltimore Clipper, in which they were repulsed.

Steamer Evelyn, towed in the Mary. Vessels and cargo not mentioned.

The Alexandria, towed in the Mary, arrived at Halifax on the 12th, for repairs.

European dates, of the 31 ult., by way Nassau, will soon make another effort to intervene in American affairs.

Washington Union, of the 16th, says Lieutenant-General Grant will probably assume command in Richmond, as it is known that the military commander of the Richmond district has been ordered to Petersburg that point.

Gold market excited and unsettled, closing at 213.

Petersburg, Sept. 15. Wilcox's federal corps, a veteran wood and iron armored corps, Poplar Springs Church, two miles from the Weldon Railroad. The enemy strike Wilcox, Butler's men, but were mostly repulsed. Hancock's brigade, as reported. Our fortifications. The enemy commenced firing at the centre. Prisoners captured. There was an attempt to advance their lines in the direction of the Norfolk Side Railroad. A quiet day, balance of the line. Nothing said but shots picked firing.

Richmond, September 15.—A special to the evening Whig says a force of the enemy's cavalry and infantry, supposed a raiding party, advanced from Wilcox on the road, this forenoon, in the vicinity of Peter Sperry's farm, two miles west of the railroad and four miles from the city. Skirmishing a big on all the morning. No casualties reported. A letter from an officer in Leonardo's division says he drove the enemy through Mart in the evening, up the railroad.

A CARD.

A rumor having been circulated to the same extent believed that I have or intend to leave this district, by the urgent wishes of the Department, I deem it due to the citizens with whom I lately had the honor to command, and to my friends in the Military District with whom I have been kind enough to express an interest in my movements, to state that rumor is not my intention.

The people of the district and the command of my youth and riper years, have ever been endeared to me by the enthusiasm and devotion of many a hard fought campaign, and I shall remain with them in the faithful performance of duty. The claims of our country and her armies came ever the superior interests of individual interests. Our young republic is passing through the throes of a mighty revolution, and it behooves us all, soldiers and citizens, to oppose to the enemy here as elsewhere, a united front, and so, I trust, we will be shielded to join our comrades in a glorious triumph for constitutional freedom.

Soldiers of my late command, stand by your colors! Cultivate the cardinal virtues of discipline and obedience! Continue to deserve that which your country has a right to demand—which will make your name an object of affection to friends and terror to foes.

When peace comes again it will be your proud reflection, that you have in every way, by your devotion, that you have in every way, by your devotion, that you did your living duty, and by your cheerfulness and heroism lift to the end. Thus I remain with them in the faithful performance of duty. The claims of our country and her armies came ever the superior interests of individual interests. Our young republic is passing through the throes of a mighty revolution, and it behooves us all, soldiers and citizens, to oppose to the enemy here as elsewhere, a united front, and so, I trust, we will be shielded to join our comrades in a glorious triumph for constitutional freedom.

Soldiers of my late command, stand by your colors! Cultivate the cardinal virtues of discipline and obedience! Continue to deserve that which your country has a right to demand—which will make your name an object of affection to friends and terror to foes.

When peace comes again it will be your proud reflection