

NEW ORLEANS EVENING BEE

NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY MORNING, NOVEMBER 26, 1863.

Vol. XVII—New Series. Vol. XXXVI.—Whole No. 12,882.

Office 73 Chartres street.

NEW ORLEANS:

THURSDAY MORNING, NOV. 26, 1863.

Rate at Auctioneers 7c.

By E. Murphy, at 10 o'clock, No. 47 Magazine street; or at 10 o'clock, at the rear of the rear corner of St. Charles and Perdido streets, furnaces.

At the Sheriff, at 10 o'clock, on the premises of the Sheriff, between St. Louis and Canal, the corner of a building.

Under Sheriff's Auctioneers' Bureau.—Bids due at the office of the sheriff, bounded by the northern side of Faubourg St. John, the upper city line, the river and the rear of the city, and of that portion bounded by the northern side of St. Louis street, the lower city line, the river and Lake Pontchartrain, the day before the sheriff's sale, at 10 o'clock, for George C. Head, collector. It requires payment of license taxes, within the specified limits on the 15th instant, and the four days thereafter, under penalty of additional costs.

ATTENTION!—For the arrangements of the system to be adopted at the change of date, New Orleans, and especially for the collection of license taxes, see "NOTES ON THE COLLECTOR'S DUTIES," published in our columns, and reliable as MOLLOWAY'S PILLS AND OINTMENT, 10c per box.

The Sheriff will sell at auction this day, at 10 o'clock A. M., on the premises, the contents of a shooting store, situated on Royal street, between St. Louis and Canal streets, Second District, containing of coats, overcoats, hats, shirts, stockings, vests, cravats, etc., etc., etc.

MADAME OLIVE.—It will be seen that Madame Olive, the head of the well known and fashionable establishment, No. 22 Chartres street, has sold out, and is a popular name of a number of military and naval officers, and at moderate prices. Reference is asked to her advertisement elsewhere for a catalogue of the principal items of her recent importation, and for the arrangements she has made for giving satisfaction to her customers.

The Banjo To Night At The Academy Of Music.—A bill of unusual interest is offered for the sale of the "Banjo To Night" at the Academy of Music, in the performances of the Beaufort Troop, and in addition to the usual performances of the Beaufort Troop, the upper city line, the river and the rear of the city, and of that portion bounded by the northern side of St. Louis street, the lower city line, the river and Lake Pontchartrain, the day before the sheriff's sale, at 10 o'clock, for George C. Head, collector.

ATTENTION!—For the arrangements of the system to be adopted at the change of date, New Orleans, and especially for the collection of license taxes, see "NOTES ON THE COLLECTOR'S DUTIES," published in our columns, and reliable as MOLLOWAY'S PILLS AND OINTMENT, 10c per box.

The Sheriff will sell at auction this day, at 10 o'clock A. M., on the premises, the contents of a shooting store, situated on Royal street, between St. Louis and Canal streets, Second District, containing of coats, overcoats, hats, shirts, stockings, vests, cravats, etc., etc., etc.

MASSACRE OF LIMA.—It will be seen that the massacre of the Indians, the head of the well known and fashionable establishment, No. 22 Chartres street, has sold out, and is a popular name of a number of military and naval officers, and at moderate prices. Reference is asked to her advertisement elsewhere for a catalogue of the principal items of her recent importation, and for the arrangements she has made for giving satisfaction to her customers.

Political Changes.

How congequous long pastures when energy, movement, impetuosity, is impressively set forth in the pages of the New York Journal of Commerce!

Just now, perhaps at no time before since the commencement of the war, we begin to apprehend the full import of the political changes in which we are involved.

What are there to do? We strike, let us strike.

And there are not strong arms within the nucleus of our forces, nor is there a single man who can be relied upon to lead us to victory.

James Garrison, Chirn, Philadelphia.

David G. Grant, D. C., Vice President.

John C. Breckinridge, Kentucky.

Joe A. Stuart, Ind., As Secy.

Political Changes.

How congequous long pastures when energy,

movement, impetuosity, is impressively set forth in the pages of the New York Journal of Commerce!

Just now, perhaps at no time before since the commencement of the war, we begin to apprehend the full import of the political changes in which we are involved.

What are there to do? We strike, let us strike.

And there are not strong arms within the nucleus of our forces, nor is there a single man who can be relied upon to lead us to victory.

James Garrison, Chirn, Philadelphia.

David G. Grant, D. C., Vice President.

John C. Breckinridge, Kentucky.

Joe A. Stuart, Ind., As Secy.

Political Changes.

How congequous long pastures when energy,

movement, impetuosity, is impressively set forth in the pages of the New York Journal of Commerce!

Just now, perhaps at no time before since the commencement of the war, we begin to apprehend the full import of the political changes in which we are involved.

What are there to do? We strike, let us strike.

And there are not strong arms within the nucleus of our forces, nor is there a single man who can be relied upon to lead us to victory.

James Garrison, Chirn, Philadelphia.

David G. Grant, D. C., Vice President.

John C. Breckinridge, Kentucky.

Joe A. Stuart, Ind., As Secy.

Political Changes.

How congequous long pastures when energy,

movement, impetuosity, is impressively set forth in the pages of the New York Journal of Commerce!

Just now, perhaps at no time before since the commencement of the war, we begin to apprehend the full import of the political changes in which we are involved.

What are there to do? We strike, let us strike.

And there are not strong arms within the nucleus of our forces, nor is there a single man who can be relied upon to lead us to victory.

James Garrison, Chirn, Philadelphia.

David G. Grant, D. C., Vice President.

John C. Breckinridge, Kentucky.

Joe A. Stuart, Ind., As Secy.

Political Changes.

How congequous long pastures when energy,

movement, impetuosity, is impressively set forth in the pages of the New York Journal of Commerce!

Just now, perhaps at no time before since the commencement of the war, we begin to apprehend the full import of the political changes in which we are involved.

What are there to do? We strike, let us strike.

And there are not strong arms within the nucleus of our forces, nor is there a single man who can be relied upon to lead us to victory.

James Garrison, Chirn, Philadelphia.

David G. Grant, D. C., Vice President.

John C. Breckinridge, Kentucky.

Joe A. Stuart, Ind., As Secy.

Political Changes.

How congequous long pastures when energy,

movement, impetuosity, is impressively set forth in the pages of the New York Journal of Commerce!

Just now, perhaps at no time before since the commencement of the war, we begin to apprehend the full import of the political changes in which we are involved.

What are there to do? We strike, let us strike.

And there are not strong arms within the nucleus of our forces, nor is there a single man who can be relied upon to lead us to victory.

James Garrison, Chirn, Philadelphia.

David G. Grant, D. C., Vice President.

John C. Breckinridge, Kentucky.

Joe A. Stuart, Ind., As Secy.

Political Changes.

How congequous long pastures when energy,

movement, impetuosity, is impressively set forth in the pages of the New York Journal of Commerce!

Just now, perhaps at no time before since the commencement of the war, we begin to apprehend the full import of the political changes in which we are involved.

What are there to do? We strike, let us strike.

And there are not strong arms within the nucleus of our forces, nor is there a single man who can be relied upon to lead us to victory.

James Garrison, Chirn, Philadelphia.

David G. Grant, D. C., Vice President.

John C. Breckinridge, Kentucky.

Joe A. Stuart, Ind., As Secy.

Political Changes.

How congequous long pastures when energy,

movement, impetuosity, is impressively set forth in the pages of the New York Journal of Commerce!

Just now, perhaps at no time before since the commencement of the war, we begin to apprehend the full import of the political changes in which we are involved.

What are there to do? We strike, let us strike.

And there are not strong arms within the nucleus of our forces, nor is there a single man who can be relied upon to lead us to victory.

James Garrison, Chirn, Philadelphia.

David G. Grant, D. C., Vice President.

John C. Breckinridge, Kentucky.

Joe A. Stuart, Ind., As Secy.

Political Changes.

How congequous long pastures when energy,

movement, impetuosity, is impressively set forth in the pages of the New York Journal of Commerce!

Just now, perhaps at no time before since the commencement of the war, we begin to apprehend the full import of the political changes in which we are involved.

What are there to do? We strike, let us strike.

And there are not strong arms within the nucleus of our forces, nor is there a single man who can be relied upon to lead us to victory.

James Garrison, Chirn, Philadelphia.

David G. Grant, D. C., Vice President.

John C. Breckinridge, Kentucky.

Joe A. Stuart, Ind., As Secy.

Political Changes.

How congequous long pastures when energy,

movement, impetuosity, is impressively set forth in the pages of the New York Journal of Commerce!

Just now, perhaps at no time before since the commencement of the war, we begin to apprehend the full import of the political changes in which we are involved.

What are there to do? We strike, let us strike.

And there are not strong arms within the nucleus of our forces, nor is there a single man who can be relied upon to lead us to victory.

James Garrison, Chirn, Philadelphia.

David G. Grant, D. C., Vice President.

John C. Breckinridge, Kentucky.

Joe A. Stuart, Ind., As Secy.

Political Changes.

How congequous long pastures when energy,

movement, impetuosity, is impressively set forth in the pages of the New York Journal of Commerce!

Just now, perhaps at no time before since the commencement of the war, we begin to apprehend the full import of the political changes in which we are involved.

What are there to do? We strike, let us strike.

And there are not strong arms within the nucleus of our forces, nor is there a single man who can be relied upon to lead us to victory.

James Garrison, Chirn, Philadelphia.

David G. Grant, D. C., Vice President.

John C. Breckinridge, Kentucky.

Joe A. Stuart, Ind., As Secy.

Political Changes.

How congequous long pastures when energy,

movement, impetuosity, is impressively set forth in the pages of the New York Journal of Commerce!

Just now, perhaps at no time before since the commencement of the war, we begin to apprehend the full import of the political changes in which we are involved.

What are there to do? We strike, let us strike.

And there are not strong arms within the nucleus of our forces, nor is there a single man who can be relied upon to lead us to victory.

James Garrison, Chirn, Philadelphia.

David G. Grant, D. C., Vice President.

John C. Breckinridge, Kentucky.

Joe A. Stuart, Ind., As Secy.

Political Changes.

How congequous long pastures when energy,

movement, impetuosity, is impressively set forth in the pages of the New York Journal of Commerce!

Just now, perhaps at no time before since the commencement of the war, we begin to apprehend the full import of the political changes in which we are involved.

What are there to do? We strike, let us strike.

And there are not strong arms within the nucleus of our forces, nor is there a single man who can be relied upon to lead us to victory.

James Garrison, Chirn, Philadelphia.

David G. Grant, D. C., Vice President.

John C. Breckinridge, Kentucky.

Joe A. Stuart, Ind., As Secy.

Political Changes.