

THE DAILY BEE
STARTED DAIRY (STURM'S EXCERPT) AT
NO. 73 CHARTRES STREET.

NEW ORLEANS:
FRIDAY MORNING, APRIL 28.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC—Another crowded and brilliant concert was given at the Academy of Music last night, and were charmed to witness the splendid and incredible gymnastic evolutions of the Hammons. They are to repeat some of their most brilliant feats this evening. On Saturday evening will appear the first opera in general matinee.

The Orleans Fair at New Orleans, Monday.—We would again remind our readers of the excellent cheer and a variety of other attractions awaiting at the Orleans Fair, held by the ladies of the New Orleans Harriers, in the course of the present season of charity which inspires them to labor, and which appeals so eloquently to the benevolent sympathy of the public. We hope to repeat the success of the past, will close with a grand ball, and the draw the price announced.

Friendship's Home—We are indebted to the obliging friends of the Parishes for the valuable Herald Extract of the Club with a graphic account of the descent of the West Bank, and the great interest shown in the progress of the work, and the amount of money raised at N. P. M. & Co., New Orleans, and past the river—old Mississippi, which lay directly to the mouth, and fired two shot at her, and sent up a signal to the gunners to fire, and the gunners did not fire, but by the Firemen and the Vindicator, which she soon passed, running at 20 miles an hour, while the Mississ. and the Treme are seen racing to the mouth, as was expected.

The Wah made a dash at the Saratoga as the latter passed up, and came within less than a dozen yards of her bow, while the Mississ. was making a dash at the Wah's stern, pilot Mr. Daigle, in shooting his career.

Arrival of the Clara—The steamer arrived yesterday with Cairo date to the morning of the 23d, a few hours earlier than our previous record via the river. The news is still the same, and the steamer has not yet reached New Orleans.

Mr. A. W. Wm. Clark, of the Clara, Dolson, has obliqued us with political attention.

Awardment of St. Domingo—We observe among the advice of the Germans to the St. Domingo instant from the United States, that the bill had been introduced in the Senate, and the Senate Committee had been closed, and the measure adopted by 133 to 33 votes.

A decree has been published in the official gazette of Madrid indicating the import duty on Rum sent to the Island of Cuba. If Spain wished to confer a substantial favor on the people of Cuba, to confer a substantial favor on the West and Southwest, the world not hesitate to abolish the duty on rum, as well as every other staple article of American produce.

From a New Paper

The New Orleans of the West Indies, in a number of the papers that the new President Andrew Johnson was a widower. This was a mistake, and he is now married, having recently been married to a widow, Mrs. Moore, who was killed on the 18th of December, 1864, in a gunboat, the Florida, of the Tennessee Volunteers, in the battle of Mobile Bay, in 1863, and killed. He is now married to Mrs. Moore, and Andrew, Jr., the Father of Andrew, is the latest to have brightened, some twelve years of age.

Remarkable Interview Between the President and the New British Minister

At the Cage, Friday—Sir Frederick Hovey's interview with President Johnson yesterday was remarkable. He said that he had no right to tell Lincoln himself what he had made it. This new Minister made his appearance with all the frankness and坦率 of a man who had been compelled to live in a hole in the ground, and to welcome the Capital as a representative of Great Britain, and added, "But, sir, I am a man of my word, and I will keep my word." And again, "I am a man of my word, and I will keep my word."

He was asked if he had any objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and he replied, "No, sir, I have no objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and I will keep my word."

"What do you mean?" asked the new Minister. "I mean that I will keep my word, and I will not let you know what I have done."

The remark was thoroughly English, and at the same time, it was a remarkable commentary on such occasions. His idea is simply that two men, such as two neighbors who sincerely desire peace and good fellowship, have nothing to do with each other, and that they must be content with the better. "I assure you, sir, that I have no objection to your coming to the White House, and I will keep my word, and I will not let you know what I have done."

He was asked if he had any objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and he replied, "No, sir, I have no objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and I will keep my word."

"What do you mean?" asked the new Minister. "I mean that I will keep my word, and I will not let you know what I have done."

He was asked if he had any objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and he replied, "No, sir, I have no objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and I will keep my word."

"What do you mean?" asked the new Minister. "I mean that I will keep my word, and I will not let you know what I have done."

He was asked if he had any objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and he replied, "No, sir, I have no objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and I will keep my word."

"What do you mean?" asked the new Minister. "I mean that I will keep my word, and I will not let you know what I have done."

He was asked if he had any objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and he replied, "No, sir, I have no objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and I will keep my word."

"What do you mean?" asked the new Minister. "I mean that I will keep my word, and I will not let you know what I have done."

He was asked if he had any objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and he replied, "No, sir, I have no objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and I will keep my word."

"What do you mean?" asked the new Minister. "I mean that I will keep my word, and I will not let you know what I have done."

He was asked if he had any objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and he replied, "No, sir, I have no objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and I will keep my word."

"What do you mean?" asked the new Minister. "I mean that I will keep my word, and I will not let you know what I have done."

He was asked if he had any objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and he replied, "No, sir, I have no objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and I will keep my word."

"What do you mean?" asked the new Minister. "I mean that I will keep my word, and I will not let you know what I have done."

He was asked if he had any objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and he replied, "No, sir, I have no objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and I will keep my word."

"What do you mean?" asked the new Minister. "I mean that I will keep my word, and I will not let you know what I have done."

He was asked if he had any objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and he replied, "No, sir, I have no objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and I will keep my word."

"What do you mean?" asked the new Minister. "I mean that I will keep my word, and I will not let you know what I have done."

He was asked if he had any objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and he replied, "No, sir, I have no objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and I will keep my word."

"What do you mean?" asked the new Minister. "I mean that I will keep my word, and I will not let you know what I have done."

He was asked if he had any objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and he replied, "No, sir, I have no objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and I will keep my word."

"What do you mean?" asked the new Minister. "I mean that I will keep my word, and I will not let you know what I have done."

He was asked if he had any objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and he replied, "No, sir, I have no objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and I will keep my word."

"What do you mean?" asked the new Minister. "I mean that I will keep my word, and I will not let you know what I have done."

He was asked if he had any objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and he replied, "No, sir, I have no objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and I will keep my word."

"What do you mean?" asked the new Minister. "I mean that I will keep my word, and I will not let you know what I have done."

He was asked if he had any objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and he replied, "No, sir, I have no objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and I will keep my word."

"What do you mean?" asked the new Minister. "I mean that I will keep my word, and I will not let you know what I have done."

He was asked if he had any objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and he replied, "No, sir, I have no objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and I will keep my word."

"What do you mean?" asked the new Minister. "I mean that I will keep my word, and I will not let you know what I have done."

He was asked if he had any objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and he replied, "No, sir, I have no objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and I will keep my word."

"What do you mean?" asked the new Minister. "I mean that I will keep my word, and I will not let you know what I have done."

He was asked if he had any objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and he replied, "No, sir, I have no objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and I will keep my word."

"What do you mean?" asked the new Minister. "I mean that I will keep my word, and I will not let you know what I have done."

He was asked if he had any objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and he replied, "No, sir, I have no objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and I will keep my word."

"What do you mean?" asked the new Minister. "I mean that I will keep my word, and I will not let you know what I have done."

He was asked if he had any objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and he replied, "No, sir, I have no objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and I will keep my word."

"What do you mean?" asked the new Minister. "I mean that I will keep my word, and I will not let you know what I have done."

He was asked if he had any objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and he replied, "No, sir, I have no objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and I will keep my word."

"What do you mean?" asked the new Minister. "I mean that I will keep my word, and I will not let you know what I have done."

He was asked if he had any objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and he replied, "No, sir, I have no objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and I will keep my word."

"What do you mean?" asked the new Minister. "I mean that I will keep my word, and I will not let you know what I have done."

He was asked if he had any objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and he replied, "No, sir, I have no objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and I will keep my word."

"What do you mean?" asked the new Minister. "I mean that I will keep my word, and I will not let you know what I have done."

He was asked if he had any objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and he replied, "No, sir, I have no objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and I will keep my word."

"What do you mean?" asked the new Minister. "I mean that I will keep my word, and I will not let you know what I have done."

He was asked if he had any objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and he replied, "No, sir, I have no objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and I will keep my word."

"What do you mean?" asked the new Minister. "I mean that I will keep my word, and I will not let you know what I have done."

He was asked if he had any objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and he replied, "No, sir, I have no objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and I will keep my word."

"What do you mean?" asked the new Minister. "I mean that I will keep my word, and I will not let you know what I have done."

He was asked if he had any objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and he replied, "No, sir, I have no objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and I will keep my word."

"What do you mean?" asked the new Minister. "I mean that I will keep my word, and I will not let you know what I have done."

He was asked if he had any objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and he replied, "No, sir, I have no objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and I will keep my word."

"What do you mean?" asked the new Minister. "I mean that I will keep my word, and I will not let you know what I have done."

He was asked if he had any objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and he replied, "No, sir, I have no objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and I will keep my word."

"What do you mean?" asked the new Minister. "I mean that I will keep my word, and I will not let you know what I have done."

He was asked if he had any objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and he replied, "No, sir, I have no objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and I will keep my word."

"What do you mean?" asked the new Minister. "I mean that I will keep my word, and I will not let you know what I have done."

He was asked if he had any objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and he replied, "No, sir, I have no objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and I will keep my word."

"What do you mean?" asked the new Minister. "I mean that I will keep my word, and I will not let you know what I have done."

He was asked if he had any objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and he replied, "No, sir, I have no objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and I will keep my word."

"What do you mean?" asked the new Minister. "I mean that I will keep my word, and I will not let you know what I have done."

He was asked if he had any objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and he replied, "No, sir, I have no objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and I will keep my word."

"What do you mean?" asked the new Minister. "I mean that I will keep my word, and I will not let you know what I have done."

He was asked if he had any objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and he replied, "No, sir, I have no objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and I will keep my word."

"What do you mean?" asked the new Minister. "I mean that I will keep my word, and I will not let you know what I have done."

He was asked if he had any objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and he replied, "No, sir, I have no objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and I will keep my word."

"What do you mean?" asked the new Minister. "I mean that I will keep my word, and I will not let you know what I have done."

He was asked if he had any objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and he replied, "No, sir, I have no objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and I will keep my word."

"What do you mean?" asked the new Minister. "I mean that I will keep my word, and I will not let you know what I have done."

He was asked if he had any objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and he replied, "No, sir, I have no objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and I will keep my word."

"What do you mean?" asked the new Minister. "I mean that I will keep my word, and I will not let you know what I have done."

He was asked if he had any objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and he replied, "No, sir, I have no objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and I will keep my word."

"What do you mean?" asked the new Minister. "I mean that I will keep my word, and I will not let you know what I have done."

He was asked if he had any objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and he replied, "No, sir, I have no objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and I will keep my word."

"What do you mean?" asked the new Minister. "I mean that I will keep my word, and I will not let you know what I have done."

He was asked if he had any objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and he replied, "No, sir, I have no objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and I will keep my word."

"What do you mean?" asked the new Minister. "I mean that I will keep my word, and I will not let you know what I have done."

He was asked if he had any objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and he replied, "No, sir, I have no objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and I will keep my word."

"What do you mean?" asked the new Minister. "I mean that I will keep my word, and I will not let you know what I have done."

He was asked if he had any objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and he replied, "No, sir, I have no objection to the new Minister's coming to the White House, and I will keep my word."

"What do you mean?" asked the new Minister. "I mean that I will keep my word, and I will not let