STEAMBOAT NEWS.

Washington, Nov. 17.—The trial of Capt. Frank, Artillery officer at Alexandria, charged with cruelty to prisoners is in progress. The testimony thus far is strong in support of the charge.

New York, Nov. 17.—The Herald's Toronto special of the 16th says: "There was intense excitement yesterday. The Government placed troops at the disposal of the Mayor and increased him of a probable early attack on the city. Col. Lennox's house was joined with hand bills on Tuesday night. The house of the Royal Artillery officers was visited and held by gentlemen. Many discharged pistols and guns in the city. Au attack is publicly hinted for late in the evening the contemplated rendezvous rebuked. The troops are still under arms and guard out. Hon. D. Arcey McGee in a speech at Montreal last night denounces the Fenians as oppressors. Speaking of the anticipated invasion, he said: 'To the brave would be the cry of one—not ten to the cowards of fugitives; the object of both to plunder and outrage'".

New York, Nov. 17.—A gentleman has arrived in Washington from Mexico, who says one of the ship fever vessels to New York he met an agent of Maximilian, who stated that affairs were very unsettled and that the Imperialists, that no regular Imperialist victory brought any substantial result, that the war against the Liberals was very costly to them as supplies could not be drawn from the rural districts.

Maximilian's agent further added he had been obliged to ask Maximilian to France to ask for one hundred thousand men and forty thousand troops. Failing to receive these, the French must thereby evacuate Mexico.

Maximilian was paying a visit to Yucatan.—He has removed his personal effects to that point as a safe place to put out in case the city of Mexico had to be abandoned.

The Emperor was shipping a good deal of specie to Europe. The action of the Government, it is said, will hasten events on the part of Maximilian.

New York, Nov. 17.—The Tribune's Washington special says the Government has decided to appoint female detectives to search women. Several are extensively engaged in smuggling cloth, boots and furs from Canada over the Grand Trunk Railroad. It is believed Buffalo is the main depository for these goods.

Washington, November 17.—The Navy Department denies the rumors that ages-hence are being fitted out for sea.

New York, November 17.—The World's special says General Duff Green is not dead as reported, but alive and well in Washington.

New York, November 17.—Governor Curtin of Pennsylvania, is recovering.

Washington, November 17.—An application to the Navy Department in behalf of the Harrison and Maryland Ocean Telegraph Company for a vessel to aid in laying a cable across Behring's Straits was refused on the ground of being a private enterprise.

New York, November 17.—Advices from Mount Hay to the 9th, report several rebels subdenomed to death and the complete crushing out of the rebellion. The entire road from Hong Hay to Montreal Bay, eight miles, is strewn so thick with dead bodies as to render the road impassable.

Washington, November 17.—Mr. Burlingame, United States Minister to China, has been in consultation with the President, and will soon return to China.

New York, November 17.—The Commercial says General Logan's friends state that he will not accept the Mexican Mission.

New York, Nov. 17.—The issue of Gold certificates at the Custom-house yesterday and to-day was nine hundred and seventy-five thousand dollars. Government stocks are the highest. The Sub-Treasury yesterday disposed of four hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars in coin, on account of the foreign coupons of 5-20 bonds of which the Paris bought out a large amount.

Gens. Schofield and Kirby, on one year's leave, sailed for Europe yesterday.

New York, Nov. 17.—The Commercial's Washington letter says the Presidents has reasonably decided to issue notices to the rebellious freedmen in the Southern States during the coming winter, and other proclamations which will be rendered necessary to continue the United States Government to an unprecedented prosperity. The Government will probably declare the Southern States entitled to representation in Congress, and in the event of the refusal of the Legislatures to accept the Constitutional Amendment abolishing slavery, will probably declare the Southern States reconstructed by the action of the Executive. The Government will probably not pay the rebel debts. Col. de Gramont is a relative of Slave Colonel, and who formerly associated with Napoleon III. in the days of his exile.

The Government of Texas will be required to pay the expenses of the State Government, and the Southern States in their re-organization will be required to repudiate the rebel debts. The Rebel Commissioners.

Mark, the Washington correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial, writes on the 7th:

"The most discouraging fact, for those disposed to be hopeful of the future, is the total indifference of Mr. Davis to his own personal comfort. Instead of spending the Islands of Gen. Beale, on a Virginian river, they were sent to this city in close cars. There are several rooms in the basement of the Capitol, under charge of Mr. Hickey, Assistant Doorkeeper of the Senate. Among them is the room in which Mr. Lincoln lay in state. Mr. Davis and family were put in this room, and were left without fire, without food, without a bed, and in a condition of pallor in bed before midnight one of the Senate doorkeepers, who had been a slave-holder, and who had been a slave-holder, and who had been a slave-holder, and
