THE CREACENT MONTHLY.—From the publishers, Mesers. William Evelyn & Co., Ell Baronne street, we have received the December number of this high-toned literary periodical, in many respects an improvement upon the preceding numbers. Several interesting original articles, from the peans of Southern authors are given, together with some excellent selection from foreign journals. The editor announces that some sketches of the "Washington Artillery" will be commenced in the second volume, which begins January 1st, 1887. These will be read with interest in this city. The "Creacent Monthly" has now completed its first volume and has a seatilesed the limit in the price of the "Massington Artillery" character promised at its inception. The December number of the Meshanics' and Agricultural Fair.

Testerday was inaugurated the Great State Pair, regarding which there has been an unsual amount of expectation, under the aspices of the "Meshanics' and Agricultural Fair Association." THE LOYES OF EATS AND CASES.

(From the Milweshes Wiscousts.)

Our attention has been called to one of those little episodes in life which are so full of romance, and which put to black the flat and insipid efforts of the noveliate who so strain at the imaginative. We will tall the story as we have learned it as briefly as possible. He was a strain at the same of the sountry to find the story as we have learned it as briefly as possible in new. A strain of the sountry to find the sound the s would follow his betrothed, and in the new world seek her hand.

With her parents Kate came to Milwankees and estiled here. It is a matter of little importance to our readers whether Kate's father opened a layer here and estiled down and prospered. For some months every steamer brought a letter from the young Casper to Kate, explying that he was nearly ready to leave, and in a few weeks at most abould be in Milwankees to lasp the hand of her he loved more and more every day of his life. Suddenly, the letters conseed coming, and not a word was heard of or from the lover.

Now's Representation with the new three heads and consequently the letters conseed coming, and not a word was heard of or from the lover.

Now's Representation is the new three heads and consequently the resections in our leading stagle have been of a restricted character, amounting to only 300
