THE SITUATION IN FRANCE.

The late intelligence from France is sufficient to convince those disposed to be convinced that the French armies have had substantial success on Wednesday and Thursday last. We think this is to be inferred from the telegrams published in our issue of yesterday and several given this morning, but that the arrival of the King of Prussia, who always has in his intelligence of good for himself, is a further evidence of the failure of his army to prevent the supplies from Paris which it is announced have actually taken place and been so far successful. The last dispatch from the King is dated on Wednesday, November 30. This evidence does not seem to have ...ured him since that date, else we should have heard of it. The movements ...Trochu and Ducrot which are claimed ...the French as having been effective by ...aking the lines of Prussian investment, ...e made on November 30 and December ...and their plans are believed to be yet ...se of execution. That Ducrot is ...side of Versailles with one hundred and ...y thousand men, we think is there need ...o doubt. What he will do with them ...epends upon the co-operation which the Palladines may be able to give. The retreat of the Prussian ...e near Amiens is another indication ...arm work near Paris, and that the Prussian General has found it necessary ...collect his scattered forces and to bring ...em to the scene of the army investing ...ris. The most important result of these ...ccessful movements will be the moral ...ect they must have upon both armies, ...upon the French people. Undoubtedly ...ey will greatly inspirit them, while ...cannot fail correspondingly to de...ress the Germans. One hundred and ...y thousand fewer mouths in Paris will ...small relief to the authorities there, ...they will be of the most material ...istance to the French commanders now ...ndering the Prussian army on all ...es. While we write these lines tele...ms are coming in which state that the ...vements of Ducrot and De Palladines, ...e in view a junction of their forces, ...progressing favorably. In our next ...e we shall probably be able to an...ce the complete success of the bril...nt plans of Trochu and the commanders ...are co-operating with him outside ...e German lines.

Through the kindness of Dr. Geo. W. ...ry, Special Deputy Marshal of the United States, in the Census department ...the office, and that of his able assistant, ...s. Oscar Arroyo, (whose many favors ...e filling other positions are not for...ten, we have received a table of Social ...atistics of the State of Louisiana for ...e year ending December 1, 1870, compiled from the census returns made to the ...arshal. In this table we find, among ...ers, the following items of informa...n:

1. Statement of the value of real and ...rsonal property.
2. Statement of the public debt, State, ...parish and city.
3. Statement of the various kinds of ...ops and the amount realized from same.
4. Statement showing the number of ...ppers and criminals, their nationality ...d cost of support.
5. Number of libraries, public and pri...te.
6. Wages of laborers.
7. Number, classification and circulation ...f newspapers.

Mr. Barrett has kindly offered to assist and appear on this occasion. The play will be that sterling comedy "School for Scandal," in which Messrs. Lisgard in the principal characters. To be followed by Lisgard, who will present a new batch of sketches, and a farce in which the entire troupe is cast.

CITY INTELLIGENCE.

The Donaldsonville Affair—Deputy Sheriff Arrested.—We noticed yesterday morning the arrest of De Witt C. Brown, Gen. Hunsacker's Adjutant General, on the charge of creating the riot at Donaldsonville. Brown was arrested in a coffee-house near the Custom-house, and was with Dr. R. K. Smith, the newly elected Parish Judge of Ascension Parish. Smith protested against the arrest, stating that the warrant was not legal, as it was issued by Morris Marks as Parish Judge, while he (Smith) was the Judge. Deputy Sheriff Maher paid no attention to his protest, but hastened his prisoner on board the Henry Tete for transportation to Donaldsonville. Smith hunted up the Hunsacker's, who got some sort of an order to take Brown from the custody of the Deputy Sheriff by force. A Deputy Sheriff, accompanied by a Metropolitan policeman and armed with this writ or order, went to Carrollton to intercept the boat. This dodge was suspected by those who had charge of Brown, and his precious person was disposed of in such a manner that he could not make his presence known, and when the officers boarded the boat, the person who answered their inquiries knew nothing of a gentleman named Brown. Foiled here, they came back and searched other boats, but without success. Brown was far on his way to Donaldsonville.

Yesterday morning, while Commissioner Weller was delivering his decision in the case of David Fisher, Deputy Sheriff Maher again appeared on the scene armed with a warrant issued by Judge Marks, of Donaldsonville, dated November 28, for the arrest of D. S. Hunsacker, Supervisor of Registration for Ascension parish, for alleged violation of the registration law. While Sheriff Maher was performing his duty, in the passage, near the office of the Clerk of the U. S. District Court, Gen. Hunsacker came to the rescue with a police officer, and caused Maher to be arrested, stating that he would make a charge on their arrival at the police station. The policeman, Gen. Hunsacker, Sheriff Maher and Dr. Hunsacker, then formed a procession and marched to the office of the Chief of Police. Gen. Hunsacker here made an affidavit against Mr. Maher for the illegal arrest and false imprisonment of Brown.

Mr. Maher was released on bail, his prisoner having released himself, and there the case stands at present writing.

It is reported that Judge Smith left for the scene of his judgeship on Friday, but there is on file in the office of U. S. Commissioner Weller an affidavit made by Smith, charging his predecessor, Judge Marks, with perjury in making the affidavit on which Smith himself was arrested for subornation of perjury. This affidavit bears the date December 3, notwithstanding Smith left the city on the 2d.

The Donaldsonville Murders—Fisher Committed.—At 12 o'clock yesterday U. S. Commissioner Weller delivered his decision in the case of the Donaldsonville murders, which has occupied his court for several days.

David Fisher, the chief Constable of Ascension parish, and commander of the force or mob at whose hands Messrs. Lawes and Schoonberg met their death, was the only one of three accused present, the two Oliver's having already been committed for trial, at the close of the examination at Donaldsonville.

Commissioner Weller summed up the evidence in a clear and comprehensive manner showing the absurdity of the theory advanced that Judge Lawes had killed Mr. Schomberg and conclusively showing the responsibility resting upon Fisher for the acts of the force under his command.

As to the jurisdiction of the court, that had been decided upon at Donaldsonville when the testimony was first commenced, the disturbance which led to the murder of these two peaceable gentlemen grew entirely out of the attempt to interfere with the lawful counting of the votes cast on election day. If the law to secure to every one the right to vote did not also naturally protect that right by securing a legal count of the votes cast, it was of no force at all. The mere voting did not secure the citizen; the lawful and fair counting of the votes was necessary to a fulfillment of the intent and requirements of the law.

The evidence showed that Fisher had attempted to drag Judge Lawes from the buggy in which he was, while engaged in the mission of peace in relation to the matter of the election, and that while so doing Mayor Schomberg was killed by shots from the side opposite to that which Judge Lawes occupied.

Judge Lawes was afterwards cut by a cane-knife and his throat from the ground. Where he and Fisher had fallen in the scuffle which ensued upon Judge Lawes refusing to get out of the buggy and be killed. He was shot and wounded. Word was sent to the Olivers that Lawes had killed Schomberg, and they came up and consummated the murder of the half-murdered Judge Lawes. Fisher was certainly responsible for the murder of both gentlemen. The prisoners was committed for trial by Justice of the U. S. District Court.

Criminal Sheriff's Office.—Yesterday Criminal Sheriff Massicot announced the appointment of the following Deputies, and the appointments drawn in: Joseph Bouttee, vice Capt. Robt. Swain, as keeper of the Parish Prison; Thomas Cary, E. St. Amand, G. Pinchorn, John Magge and F. Panno. Two of the old Deputies are still retained.

The Case of Supervisor Hunsacker—A Habeas Corpus Applied For.—In the case of D. S. Hunsacker, arrested yesterday by Deputy Sheriff Maher, of Donaldsonville, on the charge of violation of the registration law, Jas. J. Field, attorney for Hunsacker, applied last evening to Judge Dibble, of the Eighth District Court, for a writ of habeas corpus, on the grounds, as stated in the petition, that the arrest was illegal, for the reason that Morris Marks, who issued the warrant on which the arrest was made, had no legal authority to issue said warrant, he not being in fact Judge of the parish of Ascension, and that said warrant could not be executed by an officer of the parish of Ascension in the parish of Orleans. The affidavit accompanying the petition was sworn to by Gen. O. F. Hunsacker, brother of the arrested party.

The writ of habeas corpus issued as prayed for, and is made returnable at 10 o'clock on Monday.

Eighth District Court.—C. S. Sauvinet vs. Thos. L. Mayes et al. In this case the following motion was made yesterday:

That the plaintiff has been duly elected Civil Sheriff of the parish of Orleans, and that Thos. L. Maxwell, the present incumbent, refuses to obey the order of the court heretofore given to deliver up the effects of the office. And that he was and is by Judge Dibble that the defendant should show cause on Monday, the 5th inst., why he should not be attached for contempt.

Fifth District Court.—Judge Leamount yesterday decided a very important case relative to a question involving the principles of navigation to a certain degree. A. S. Chase, master of the steamship Foote, agreed with defendant to tow from the Rio Grande to this city the steamboat Mamie, for the consideration of dollars. In compliance with this contract they started on their way, and when four days out experienced a severe weather, wherein the boat in tow suffered some damage. They put in toward shore and made Sabine Light. After the water got smoother they proceeded as far as Timbalie Light through a very rough sea for the last twenty or thirty miles, when plaintiff went back to Timbalie Bay, at the solicitation of defendants. When they arrived at Brashear City defendants refused to allow plaintiff to tow the Mamie further. Plaintiff proceeded to this city and brought suit. Defendants brought in a reconventional demand for $6000, for the damages suffered in the steamboat, claiming that their boat was towed by the direct route, instead of the short or coasting route. A chart of the Gulf of Mexico was in evidence, and the course traveled. The Judge decided in favor of the plaintiff and dismissed the reconventional demand. E. Whitney, for plaintiff. Randolph, Singleton & Brown, for defendants.

First District Court.—The sentence of Vincenti Simondella, convicted of manslaughter in killing shot Rosario Dimichelli in Congo square—was postponed until Friday.

Henry Williams, the unfortunate victim of the Barracks street robbery case, was allowed $36 for lost time by the court.

Fire.—A fire broke out at a quarter past nine last night in the double tenement house, Nos. 385 and 387 St. Thomas street, owned by Mr. Kendall and occupied by Jos. Agnelly, and communicated to the adjoining double one-story house, owned by John Wilson and occupied by Mr. Surrell. The house where the fire originated was totally ruined and the remainder partially destroyed. Both houses were insured, but for what amount was not ascertained.

Daylight Robberies.—The grocery store of S. Nuñez, No. 501 Magazine street, was entered about half-past two o'clock yesterday afternoon by two colored men who obtained the drawer of about fifteen dollars in currency.

The residence of Joseph Katzum, on Bayou, between St. Peter and Toulouse streets, was entered about 10 o'clock yesterday morning, during the absence of the family, and the following articles stolen: $15 in currency, $8 in specie, one gold watch and chain and other small articles of jewelry, the whole valued at $75. The entrance was made through the front door.

Chattanooga Railroad.—Baggage train of the N. O. M. & C. R. R. broke down yesterday evening, a mile and a half this side of Manchac, causing total wreck of its car, and tearing up of a few feet of the track. Five men were in the car, but fortunately escaped unhurt. The train arrived in the city at half past 11 o'clock.

DEATH OF THE TWO BARONCHES.—A letter from Tours, dated on the 8th January, says: You will probably have heard of the almost simultaneous death of the two Baroches—the father, the former Minister of Justice, in Jersey, and the son at the combat of Bourget, in front of Paris. The death of the latter is related as follows:

His battalion had lost all its men and officers out of twenty, and was on the point of being surrounded when M. Baroche ordered the men to retreat, and refused that, for his part, he should remain where he was. They in vain endeavored to get him away. He remained there. Nine men, an ensign and a sergeant remained with him and died. Then he advanced towards the enemy, and when he was twenty paces from them he stepped, emptied his pistols, drew his revolver and fired on the Prussians. A terrible volley was the reply to this perfectly heroic act. Baroche fell, his body across the ground. Prussian officers, who had witnessed the scene, had him carried off. Wounded in the head, the body was found to be pierced with seven bullets.

[PREVIOUS DISPATCHES.]

New York, Dec. 3.—The Tribune's correspondent, with Garibaldi's headquarters at Autun, writes, Thursday, the Prussians, reported in afternoon attacked Autun with 12 cannon, infantry and cavalry. They were repulsed with great loss. The Prussians shelled the city. The Mobiles behaved well.

The correspondent of the Tribune telegraphs at 2 o'clock on Thursday, from Versailles, that during the fighting on the 30th was followed by no fresh events. Yesterday, there was a lull in the fire from the forts. To-day, again, there is heavy firing in the direction of Charenton.

The same correspondent telegraphs at 8 o'clock on Friday morning from Orleans that the army of the Loire was at that moment leaving Orleans, and that the Prussians are concentrating.

The World special from Tours (Friday) announces that Trochu and Palladines had formed a junction, and the siege of Paris was virtually raised.

The Bavarian Diet will act on the treaty on the 10th inst.

Philadelphia, Dec. 3.—The Girard Iron Tube Works burned. Loss, $175,000. Three patents and fifty workmen thrown out of employment.

Washington, Dec. 3.—Foriegn advices are much confused, but the impression exists here that reports in the press that the French have made brilliant efforts, and that at the date of the last authentic advices were pushing their advantage, but the best geographers are puzzled to locate the two armies. The French legation here think that the story of the war will be told within the next week.

COTTON STATEMENT.

[Cables from Private Sources.]

London, Dec. 3.—By sifting a vast number of confused and contradictory war dispatches received here to-day to late hour this morning, the fact is undeniable that the French force yesterday actually won a victory, as claimed by them, near Orleans, but the Germans certainly repulsed the French before Paris. It is not that the French army of the Loire have effected a junction with Trochu, though the Prussian lines were repeatedly successfully pierced during the engagement. The bayonet charges of the French were exceedingly brilliant.

New York, Dec. 3—Noon.—Stocks heavy; gold 111¼; money 6@7; sterling, long 9; short 9½. Bonds of 1881, 107⅛; flour a shade firmer; wheat quiet, but firm; corn firm.

Pork quiet, old $22; lard dull; cotton inactive but easier; uplands 15¼c; Orleans 16¼c; turpentine scarce and firmer, 46@47½c; rosin firm.

Washington, Dec. 3.—Up to the latest hour nothing from Europe has been received through the regular channels, as all Liverpool markets have been received this morning.

JUSTICES CHASE AND NELSON.—The Washington Patriot of the 30th ult., says:

We are gratified to learn that the health of Mr. Justice Chase is sufficiently restored, and that he is not only able to be fully exercising by which his physical condition is much strengthened. His presence on the bench is a welcome sight to the bar at the opening of the regular term, on the first Monday in December; and, judging from the improvement in his health, we feel that intention will be postponed probably until the month of February.

Per request, and the country at large will be glad to know that Mr. Justice Nelson has so far recovered that he has resumed his duties on the bench for the winter, from the 4th of this month, when he expects to reach this city.

What the People Find in this Country to Grumble About.

[From the Times.]

People have recovered from the excitement of the fight against slavery, and have begun to look calmly about them, and the state of things which meets their eyes is by no means satisfactory.

We find ourselves saddled with a tariff of extraordinary complexity, which creates thousands of articles, and is full of enormous absurdities; they find that, though its supporters declare it to be the best tariff that ever was, it is taken up every winter regularly by those very persons, and overhauled from top to bottom, tinkered and patched and modified, under the instigation of a powerful and insatiable lobby, to the great disturbance of business, and to the serious injury of the national industry.

They find the collection of the national revenue—that is, the transaction of the national business—committed to a body of men from whom not only no guarantees are exacted, but upon the subject of impeaching the governor Holden are calling a restricted Constitutional Convention.

Hon. Josiah Turner, editor of the Sentinel, and U. S. Senator Clingman had a personal encounter on the streets this morning, in the process of collection. Mr. Clingman was very badly injured about the head, having received three or four severe blows. Mr. Turner received one very severe blow. Mr. Clingman made the assault. The difficulty originated in some strictures appearing in the Sentinel upon Mr. C.
