FARMERS BUY BRASS BRICK.

Wilson Hunt and Samuel Petro, well-known and prosperous farmers residing near Crawfordsville, Ind., are out $2,000 on a gold brick game.

Some days ago a stranger in the garb of a miner appeared upon the scene and picking out his victims told them a gaudy tale of mining life. He said his partner, then in Terre Haute, had a nugget worth many thousands of dollars...

Their wives being let into the secret, Mrs. Petro became skeptical and demanded that it be drilled at a different place. Just to satisfy her that she was a foolish unreasoning woman, her wish was granted. A hole was bored about an inch from the first one, and the brick was found to be brass.

BILKS THE PRINCE OF WALES.

Bogus Mason Swindles His Way Around the World. George Fleming, who has just been convicted and sent to the state penitentiary at Walla Walla, Wash., to serve 2 1/2 years for obtaining money under false pretenses, has made a confession, which, if it were not corroborated by more than 100 letters from different masonic lodges in the United States and other countries, would be received with incredulity.

The total amount of money thus obtained will probably reach $20,000, but he has borrowed so much that he does not pretend to recite all the instances. He has traveled all over the world and never spent a cent for railroad or other transportation. He has many aliases that he cannot name them. He was known in Mississippi as Prof. Willy, in Kentucky as Alexander Craig, in Pennsylvania as William Ball, in Cincinnati and Chicago as Charles Wilson, in St. Louis as William Mays. In Paris he claims to have met and dined with the prince of Wales and Sir Dudley Ward. For desert he borrowed $100 from the prince on the strength of masonry. In Madrid he worked Hannis Taylor for free transportation to the Rock of Gibraltar by way of Cadiz.
