

CATCHER'S MASK FOR DEWEY.

Bachelors' Club at Joplin, Mo., Hopes to Save Him from Hobson's Fate.

The Bachelors' club, of Joplin, Mo., has purchased a baseball catcher's mask, and will send it to Admiral Dewey, with the club's best wishes that he may be preserved upon his return to the United States from the fate of Hobson. The following resolutions, handsomely engrossed, will accompany the mask: "Whereas, The custom of indiscriminate kissing is deemed by medical authorities to be dangerous to health; "Whereas, The gallantry of the American sailor is susceptible to woman's charms, and the tendency of woman is toward hero-worship; "Whereas, As we realize that late manifestations of this tendency, as exemplified by the wholesale kissing of Lieut. Hobson, at Chicago, Kansas City, and elsewhere, while en route to Manila, may become chronic and may endanger the lives of our naval heroes; "Whereas, Admiral Dewey, the hero of Manila, is soon to visit America, where he will incur the danger of being 'Hobsonized' by women of all ages, temperaments and nationalities; "Whereas, If osculation of Admiral Dewey is inflicted in proportion to that accorded to the young hero of the 'Merry Smack,' the greatest naval officer of the age will run the risk of being kissed to death; therefore be it "Resolved, That the Bachelors' club of Joplin, Mo., send to Admiral Dewey a baseball catcher's mask, to be worn by him when he returns to the United States, as a protection against a kissing onslaught of the fair sex."

LABOR IN CHINA.

Consul Writes That Labor-Saving Devices Are Not Wanted—Man the Cheapest Article.

Labor-saving devices are not wanted in China. This is clearly shown by Consul-General Goodnow in a report to the state department, made in reply to an inquiry of an export association in New York. "I cannot give you any encouragement," he says, "in regard to the shipment of wheelbarrows, scrapers, dump carts and the like to China. The wheelbarrow used here has one large wheel in the middle and a seat on either side, where passengers are carried. Once in a great while dirt is carried in baskets in such a barrow, but ordinarily it is carried by a coolie in two baskets hung on the end of a bamboo pole balanced on his shoulders. These baskets are about the size and shape of a grain scoop. Labor-saving devices are not in demand in China. The cheapest thing here is a man. There is more labor than can find employment. A coolie carrying dirt will receive from seven to ten cents gold per day. He must work from sunrise to sunset—not very steadily or intensely, but putting in a great many hours and accomplishing a large amount of work for the amount of wages paid. There are more coolies willing to work for this pittance than there is work for them to do."

CONNOLLY'S ACCIDENTS.

In a Trip from Springfield to Washington He is in Three Weeks—Was Jonah on the Train?

On his way to Washington from Springfield, Ill., Judge Connolly met with enough railroad accidents to last the rest of his life, having been in three wrecks on the trip. The representative from Springfield was not seriously injured, but his head and neck are sore from having a 200-pound conductor thrown upon him while in his berth. At Louisville, Ill., his train went off the track, but did no damage aside from a bad shaking up of those on the train. This mishap caused several hours' delay in reaching Florida, and it was five o'clock before matters were straightened out and he returned to his berth. When Connolly reached Clay City and had fallen asleep he was rudely awakened by the 200-pound conductor intruding, he having been thrown from the berth on the other side of the car. The second accident was an exact repetition of the first, the train having left the track. Just before reaching Washington another delay was caused by the train ahead of the one which brought the congressman running off the track. Judge Connolly told the story to his colleagues with great gusto and was congratulated on having escaped injury.

MAY BE ANDREE'S BALLOON.

Norwegian Sealer Sees Ropes and Rubbish on an Inaccessible Ice Pile.

The Norwegian sealer Faanfang, which has arrived at London, reports that in July, 1898, while between Greenland and Iceland, an inaccessible ice floe was encountered on which was sighted a heap of ropes and rubbish. This was possibly the wreck of Andree's balloon.

Despite the almost universal belief that Andree has perished in his search for the north pole, Prof. Laohambre, of Stockholm, thinks that the explorer reached the pole in the balloon which he made for Andree. He says: "No reasonable conclusion can be found as to Andree's safety before the expiration of three years. Andree had plenty of provisions for three years or more."

HAS STRONG FAITH.

Military Governor of Santiago, Gen. Wood, Finds Cubans Tractable.

Believes They Appreciate What is Being Done for Them and Are Fast Learning to Rely Upon Themselves.

Gen. Leonard Wood, military governor of Santiago, was the guest of honor at a dinner given by the Union League club at New York. Among those present were Gen. Stewart L. Woodford, Capt. Robley D. Evans, Gen. Wallace S. Randolph, Gen. M. C. Butler, Gen. Benjamin E. Tracy and John Addison Porter. In speaking of Cuba and the Cubans he said: "Whatever has been done in Cuba has been done for the Cubans, but for the United States. We have gone down to that island for the purpose of giving those people liberty, and it is my experience that they have demonstrated their faith, at any rate, that they are quite capable of appreciating what we can do, and their response to such liberty has been present and to them has been very quick. Of course we have got to remember that down there we are dealing with a people who for a good many generations have had very little voice in public affairs, and their whole disposition has been reversed by a system which has compelled deceit and dishonesty and subterfuge in every department of life. When we went there in July we found things in a state of confusion, and the unfortunate misunderstanding between our people and the Cubans left the army, our army and the Cuban army, somewhat at odds. "There certainly was a good deal of feeling on both sides, and the problem when the old army withdrew and the new one came was a little difficult, as there was a good deal of sickness and a good deal of distress, but, more than I have ever dreamed possible in any country—and there was a good deal said of the distress on both sides, but we started in by having no secrets of any kind, shape or description. Everything that was done down there was an open book. "I have tried to draw the army out of the situation at the earliest possible day and tried to impress upon the people that the first thing they had to do down there was to get to work, to get to work, and that the underlying principle of our government was through respect for civil law, and that we did not want any lawlessness. We had the army only as a balance of power to overcome any lawlessness. "All the public places were filled by representative Cubans without exception. I found it of advantage to have the committee, the nominating committee, I called it, changed, too, often suddenly, so that they might not be subject to corrupt influences. "There has been a good deal which from our standpoint was not satisfactory, and which I think could be attributed to the fact that those people have hardly got in the way of trusting themselves, but the forty-fourth report that we have purchased has disarmed them to a certain extent, and to-day, as far as I know, the respect for the American flag and the American people and American good faith is all right."

South Africa Needs Meat. Drought and Rinderpest Have Greatly Reduced the Local Supply of Fresh Beef.

Owing to the terrible ravages of the rinderpest and the prolonged drought, South Africa is threatened with a meat famine. During the year ended May 31 last, according to a report from United States Consul Stowe at Cape Town, about 1,400,000 head of cattle were lost from these causes, while in the same time the loss of sheep was 2,966,000. In many districts the drought has become worse since May; all over the country the farmers are selling their breeding stock for slaughter and the price of meat is rapidly rising. In the cities it sells now for from 20 to 40 cents per pound for beef and 20 cents for mutton. Prices of living are mounting to the danger point. American flour and corn meal are being imported, the demand for the latter being beyond the supply. Altogether, says the consul, the outlook for a large trade with the United States in cereals is good, and he regrets only that the United States cannot share in the large prospective sales of frozen meat.

SPANISH SPIES REWARDED.

New York Reporter Recognized One and Let Him Make His Escape.

Five officers have just been rewarded by the Spanish government for spy service in the United States during the war, under the leadership of Col. Serrano. They visited New York, Washington, Jacksonville, Key West, Tampa, Mobile, and New Orleans. They changed their posts every four or five days, and conferred with resident spies. On one occasion one of them met a reporter of the New York World with whom he had been closely acquainted while in Havana. This reporter, instead of denouncing the spy to the American authorities, feigned that he was unacquainted with him and said nothing. This action of the American newspaper man is regarded in Madrid as "extremely chivalrous," and elicits high praise. Besides communicating information to the government these spies bought and sent to Cuba quantities of ammunition. The largest consignment was ready to be dispatched when the armistice was signed.

Two of Bismarck's Foes.

Two of Bismarck's most stubborn foes still linger on the stage. One of these, Count Bernhard Reicheberg, was the emperor of Austria's chief adviser from 1859 to 1864, and in that capacity had a hard contest with the "honest broker" over the Danish war and the division of the spoils. He has just kept his ninety-second birthday at Mauer, near Vienna. Then there is Count Benedetti, the great chancellor's adversary in a yet more eventful struggle. He is 82, and he retains his mental and physical powers almost unimpaired. Year after year a fresh volume of diplomatic studies comes from his untiring pen, and he is at this moment preparing, in view of Bismarck's recent revelations, a further account of his mission to Berlin and Erfurt in 1870.

TROUBLE FOR MME. PATTI.

Religious Obstacles to Her Remarriage in Her Marriage to Baron Cederstrom.

News has reached New York that the coming marriage of Adeline Patti-Nicolini and Baron Rudolph Cederstrom of Sweden is beset with grave religious difficulties. The head of the Swedish state church, Anton Niklas Sundberg, has pronounced that he will not permit the marriage according to the Swedish Lutheran ritual if a Roman Catholic ceremony is first performed; and the Catholic bishop of the diocese of Minerva, Wales, in which Mme. Patti resides, will forbid the union if both a Catholic and a Lutheran ceremony takes place.

It was the intention to have the marriage solemnized in Craig-y-Nos castle early in February, to be followed by a wedding ceremony at the Swedish legation in London by the official chaplain, Baron Cederstrom, as a Swedish noble and a prospective heir of valuable entailed estates, naturally desires to protect to possible heirs the fortune both of his prospective wife and what he may himself inherit; and Mme. Patti is certainly unwilling to run any risk of not being legally recognized as a future baroness of Sweden. Both believing that a civil marriage may endanger the title, they see the necessity for a religious ceremony; but the action of the two churchmen named, who stand entirely on canonical law, now renders such a ceremony dubious.

It is suggested by the friends of Mme. Patti that the difficulty can be surmounted by a special dispensation from Pope Leo, but it is hardly likely that the Vatican will override the decision of the local bishop.

MISHAP TO JULIETTE.

Ardent Love Making and a Careless Scene Setter Nearly Cause a Disaster in New York Theater.

Though Juliette is an impulsive girl and is almost ready to leap into Romeo's arms from the balcony as she listens to his words, she is never so impulsive that she is ready to carry the balcony railing with her. But by the carelessness of the scene setter that is what came nearly happening at a matinee the other day in the Metropolitan at New York city during the balcony scene of "Romeo and Juliette." Everything was going delightfully. Mme. Eames had never looked a lovelier Juliette, M. de Reszke had never been a more manly Romeo.

Juliette leaned over and impulsively made a movement as though to come nearer to him, when the balcony railing gave way and the daughter of the Capulets and part of her ancestral hall were nearly precipitated into the arms of the waiting Romeo.

WANTED TO SEE STONES FLY.

Negro Boy's Excuse for Placing Obstruction on Track Near Skillman.

Skillman station is a small settlement at the base of the Bourland mountains on the line of the Philadelphia & Reading railroad, 12 miles from Somerville, N. J. As a west-bound freight train passed the place between five and six o'clock on Sunday afternoon, the engineer saw an obstruction on the east-bound track east of the station. He at once thought of the fast-line express, No. 50, due at that point at six o'clock. He made a fast run to Hopewell, the next station, and notified the operator. A gang of men were sent out to remove the obstruction, and the train dispatcher in Philadelphia succeeded in having the express stopped before it reached the point of danger. Railroad detective arrested Alfred John Jacobs at the farm of William Skillman. He is a diminutive negro boy, a little over three feet in height. He admitted placing a plank and stones on the track, but only because he wanted to see the stones fly when the train hit them.

BELIEVES IN A BIGGER ARMY.

Sweden Thinks That Its Peaceful Times It Should Prepare for War.

The parliament of Sweden has just opened. The speech from the throne was read by the minister of foreign affairs, Count Douglas, who pointed out that whatever might be the result of the czar's peace conference, the fact that it had been summoned did not imply that the country could afford to neglect the necessary measures for its defense. Sweden, he continued, must continually strengthen its defenses, which were altogether too weak, though both her army and navy were organized with the view of defense alone, and no one could suspect her of aggressive schemes.

King Oscar, at the conclusion of the reading of the speech, expressed the hope that parliament would provide for experimental mobilization.

There is an old woman in Lincolnshire who can recall being placed in stocks. Her name is Mrs. Mary Smith, but she is familiarly known as "Grannie Hulott." She celebrated her one hundred and second birthday recently, and is proud of her pipe.
