Advice to People Who Have Weak Hearts. The following letter and reply is an extract from the editorial page of the New York Evening Journal of December 21, 1900. 'I have an ailment of the heart... We think we can give this man with his weak heart some good advice. First, let him rest absolutely, lying down for at least thirty minutes before he eats anything, and let him take a short nap after each meal... Good advice, every word of it. In addition to the above, the man should take a Ripans Tabac after each meal. It will benefit him. It will benefit anybody having a like trouble. Some people think they have heart trouble when it is really only a digestive disarrangement. A Ripans Tabac, taken after eating, materially aids digestion, drives away that full feeling, puts the stomach in prime condition, stimulates the action of the liver, and relieves the depressed and suffocating sensation in the chest and around the heart. There are thousands of people in all parts of the country who stoutly attest that Ripans benefit them in many other ways also. They banish pain and prolong life. One gives relief.'
