THINGS THAT NEVER HAPPEN

CITY AND STATE NEWS IN BRIEF

Dealers in foodstuffs who were licensed November 4, were advised by the Food Administration to immediately take an inventory of their stock preparatory to a detailed report to the administration by December 1. Forms for the report are in the hands of the printer.

his two daughters, Misses Isabelle and Yvonne, and their guests, Miss Alice Whipple of New York and Miss Dorothy Diamond of New Orleans, were the heroes of the episode. The party was motoring to Pointe-a-la-Hache Sunday morning when the car, which was traveling at a pretty good speed, hit a rut near the Promised Land plantation, about thirty miles from here, and turned completely over. Oil started flooding, but the engine stopped and it did not catch fire. The party crawled from underneath; Miss Diamond had a slight bruise and Mr. Elder a sprained arm. Mr. John Meyer, wife of the owner of the Promised Land plantation, came to their assistance, and some passing men helped them right the car. The engine started on the first whirl, only the top was damaged. The party continued their journey to Pointe a la Hache with the loss of a little less than an hour.

Mrs. Joseph Connelly's heavy in dashing through the blazing dining room of her home, 1364 Magazine street, and snatching her 17-month-old baby from the flames, prevented what might have been the second death by fire in that family in a year. In April, 1916, Mrs. Connelly's only daughter, Mamie, 13 years old, was burned to death when she used gasoline to start a grate fire.

Allowed to have entered the room of Robert E. Redfields, a stranger from Gulfport, Miss., staying at the Goshen hotel, and to have lifted Mr. Redfields' pockets. Avery Gundry, 24, bellboy in the hotel, was arrested Sunday on the charge of being a dangerous and suspicious character pending investigation of a robbery.

At a meeting in the Board of Trade Monday, Louisiana rice mill interests decided not to manufacture rice flour at their mill. Rice flour would cost $13 a barrel against about $12 for wheat flour. S. Locke Broux, chairman of the rice committee of the Board of Trade, called the meeting. Rice polish, it was said, would make a good war food and it was decided to notify J. M. Parker, food administrator, to this effect.
